THE AVENUE RAILROAD BILL was up again in the Senate yesterday.

The pending question was on the amendment authorizing the Metropolitan Railroad Company to construct the road, and providing that the company shall not appropriate the proceeds of the road for a dividend until their railroad from Georgetown to the Point of Rocks, in Maryland, shall have been completed. This amendment was adopted by a vote of 23

The question then coming up on its passage-Mr. Bayard called for the yeas and nays. The bill, he said, was now worthless; the road could never be made under that grant.

Mr. Brown hoped the friends of the bill would suffer it to pass and go to the House of Representatives with the amendments. The House could strike out the amendments and let the bill go to a conference. It would never become a law as it

Mr. Wilson wanted the privilege of voting against the bill. He looked upon it as eminently unjust. The proviso that the company should take no dividends until they had completed another road forty miles long would amount to nothing. What had the people of Georgetown and Washington to do with this road to the Point of Rocks, forty miles in the country? Mr. Chandler also wanted to record his vote against the bill. He had advocated the bill originally because a company had come in and proposed to build a road in the District, without asking the aid of Congress The Metropolitan Company claimed the road as a right, because without it they were not able to build their own road. That company had been a constant beggar, and had accomplished nothing. Not a foot of the avenue road would ever be built by that company. He had no faith in that proviso. The officers of the company, supposing the road to be built, would pocket the income in the shape of salaries, and ask for no dividends. It was a bogus company, a grand humbug. This road to the Point of Rocks had about as much to do with the avenue road as it had with the right to manufacture sewing machines.

Mr. Yulee said he voted for the amendment because he was opposed to placing any track upon the avenue. His purpose was to defeat the whole scheme He moved to lay the whole subject on the table; which was disagreed to. Mr. Doelittle hep d the friends of the road would suffer the bill to pass. He was certain it would come to a conference and finally pass in its original shape. The yeas and nays were ordered on the passage of the bill, and resulted as follows:

Yeas-Messrs. Bright, Brown, Chesnut, Clay, Clingman, Crittend n, Davis, Dixon, Doolittle, Durkee, Fitch, Fi'zpatrick, Foet, Gwin, Harlan, Iverson, Jones, Pearce, Snields, Slidell, Toombs and Ward-22 Nays-Messrs Allen, Bayard, Bell, Benjamin, Broderick, Cameron, Chandler, Clark, Collamer. Hale, Hamlin, Houston, Hunter, Johnson of Tennessee, Kennedy, King, Mallory, Pugh, Reid, Seward, Thomson of New Jersey, Trumbull, Wade, Wilson, and Yulce-25. So the bill was rejected.

NINTH DISTRICT POLICE AFFAIRS -On Satu: day evening last, about 7 o'clock, Mr Lynch, a marine, got on a spree, and, entering Mr. John Weber's tavern, kicked up a terrible row with the proprietor, the bar-keeper, and the company present, which resulted in his being uncereme niously ejected from the premises. He soon returned, and committed a violent assault on the bar-keeper, and poured out a volley of impreca tions on the company, for which he was arrested by two officers, and conveyed before Justice Cull. In the magistrate's office Mr. Lynch shocked all present by his profane and obscene language. For this he was fined $10 and costs, and for the assault on the bar-keeper he was committed to the watchhouse, to be taken to jail in the morning. In being taken to the watchhouse he broke away from the officers and fled, but a shot or two from a revolver brought him up, and he fell flat on his face with fright, and was only discovered by the officers stumbling over him in the darkness. After much trouble, the delinquent was finally placed in security for the night, and the next morning was taken to juil to await the action of the grand jury.

Before Justice Williams -Mrs. Jones was charged by Susan Welsh with outrageous and shameful conduct in the public streets. She was fined $5 and 91 cents costs. William Jones swore out a peace warrant against James Anderson, and James was accordingly had up and placed under bonds to keep the peace during a space of six months. George Butler was tried for behaving in a disorderly manner in the public streets. He was fined $5 and 91 cents costs. Ann Foley was charged with indecent and disorderly language in the streets, and on a hearing was fined $1 and 94 cents costs. D. Barrit was accused of throwing stones against a Corporation ordinance. He was fined

$1 and 91 cents costs. Etlen Foley was charged with infamous conduct in the streets. She was fined $1 and 91 cents costs.

James Anderson was arrested for bad behavior and fined $5 and 55 cents costs. Charlotte Jones was accused by the efficer of conducting herself in a very unladylike manner 14 one of the public thoroughfares of the Northern Liberties. She was made to pay a fine of $5 and 94 cents costs. CIRCUIT COURT .- The ejectment case of Massey agt. Dietz was terminated in favor of de-

On Saturday last a case was taken up of Joseph B. Stewart agt. Chas. Naylor, formerly of l'hiladelphia. Both parties to this suit were of counsel employed by Mrs Mary Reeside in the prosecution of her deceased husband's claim against the Government, in which they were successful. Suit is brought upon an acknow!edgment by defendant, dated February 26, 1857, of the receipt, on plaintiff's order, of $7.650, for 'his outside arrangements' in his branch of the prosecution of said claim, plaintiff alleging that defendant did not appropriate the money to the purposes of the claim for which it was received. Each party acts as counsel on his side, assisted by other counsel. For the plaintiff are retained Masses. Bradley & Bradley and Davidge, for defendant Messrs. Carlisle, F. P. Stanton, and R. K Scott. The case was closed by an address yesterday to the jury by the plaintiff.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOLS ON THE ISLAND -The children belonging to the several churches on the Island have been, for some time past, instructed in singing by Mr. J. Wright of this city They have improved rapidly under his tuition, and, as he declines receiving any remuneration, it is proposed to give one or two conterts by his pupils, the proceeds of which will be partly awarded to him as a token of gratitude and respect. We understand that Prof. Henry has kindly consented to allow the congregations alluded to the use of the Smithsonian Hail.

The present condition of the streets and weather and the proceedings of Congress, which chiefly preoccupy the public mind, will operate to postpone the exhibition until after the fourth of March. There will be a rehearsal by the children, this afternoon, in the Seventh street Presbyterian church on the Island, commencing at 3% o'clock, to which any interested visitor

THE COLLYER'S TRIPS TO MOUNT VERNON. On the day before yesterday full two hundred ladies and gentlemen went upon the steamer Collyer's trip to Mount Vernon-a larger number heing made to obtain the permission of Mr. Washington to make the trips kereafter at least thrice a week, if not daily. We trust he will assent to such an alteration in the existing arlangement, as the increase of visiting strangers Washington at all times already makes it necessary that the means of gratifying their desire to visit the temb of Washington should be daily within their reach

"So SHINES A GOOD DEED IN THIS NAUGHTY World."-The dismal rains and dark nights have made the lectures at the Smithsonian rather uncertain this winter. Many persons, after a long muddy walk, have bad to trudge home again because the lecture had been postponed. It is suggested whether the suspension of a colored light on one of the towers of the building would not be a benevolent measure. Its rays would be a reliable sign that the doors will be open and the lecturer there.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTERS of the Public Schools held an adjourned meeting yesterday afternoon, to take into consideration the case of alleged insubordination on the part of Miss Myrick, a teacher in the Third District

Mr. AtLee, chairmen of the committee appointed at the previous meeting, reported the action of the committee, the result of which was that the lady against whom the charge of insubordination was made had given a written acknowledgment of her baste and mistake in the ideas she had entertained and the course she had pursued, and begged to withdraw the objectionable communication she had addressed to the sub-board. Mr. AtLee moved the discharge of the committee from all further consideration of the subject, inasmuch as the difficulty had been thus removed. Mr Miller would like to hear from the sub-board of the third district on the subject, as they were one of the parties to the matter. Mr. Brandt would speak as a member of the General Board, inasmuch as the General Board, by appointing a committee on the subject, had taken it out of the hands of the sub-board. For himself, he was satisfied with the lady's retraction. Subsequently, however, on reperusal of the retraction of Miss M , Mr Brandt expressed himself as dissatisfied with it, and expressed the hope that if the letter of retraction were re-without reference to any opinion of the subboard. The Mayor thought it due to the sub-board and the lady herself to place her last letter on the record; the effect of it would be such as to show practically the relation borne by the teachers of he schools to the trustees and the public. The lady had now done what was proper; it was therefore right that it should appear on the records

ceived by the General Board it would be done

Mr. Ironside brought to the attention of the Board an article in the States newspaper of Thursday last assailing the Board for want of economy, which he read and complained of as unjust, and emphatically contradicted. He had himself, and he believed every other member had, been strictly economical, and in fact had made purchases for the schools at cheaper rates than could be done for private use. A letter was received from W. W. Saxon, asking for a teachership Referred to the Commit-

THE GEORGETOWN SHOOTING CASE -At the examination yesterday before Justice J N. Fearion, of Georgetowa, in the case of Hillary Hutchins, charged with the shooting of John Ennis, several witnesses were examined for Government, whose testimony was to the general effect of the account given in our Georgetown The line of defence taken for prisoner was that Ennis, with a crowd from Washington, had stoned Hutchins' house the night before and several times during the day, severely bruising his wife. Two witnesses, who knew Ennts from infancy, said that he was "a notorious shooter and stabber, and that he (Ennis) was making toward Hutchins, and that Hutchins fied in self-defence." Witnesses averred that the plan was formed near Centre Market, in Washington, by Eanis and others to have revenge on some one in Georgetown against whom they were bitter.

P. S -We learn that Ennis died about 10 o'clock this morning. He left no sworn declaration as to the person who killed him. The antecedents of Hutchings and Ennis are wellknown in this city. Hutchings, with his gigartic frame and desperate boldness of purpose, has played an active part in the political rowdyisms of the day, and thus gained a considerable influence in the lower part of Georgetown. His friends assert that the purpose of the Ennis party in visiting Georgetown was to drive away Hutchings, he being the active fighting man on election eccasions.

Ennis was a young man, probably about 24 years of age. He was a married man. In the Northern Liberties, where he long resided, he has been familiarly known as "Jack Ennis," cognomen that has figured in most of the political and fire riots in that part of the city. This name has been a terror to drinking shops and houses of doubtful reputation, as well as to peaceful citizens. Not many nights ago he was arrested, it will be remembered, by watchmen King and Rabbitt for being found at midnight with burglar's tools, a crowbar and "jimmy in the vicinity of Delle's restaurant, near the Northern market. The circumstances were suspicious, but nothing could be proven to justify a ommitment. Justice Donn, however, warned him that if he did not mend his ways he would come to some disgraceful or untimely end.

> COLUMBIAN COLLEGE - In the "amende honorable," made by the correspondent of the Boston Atlas and Daily Bee, which appeared in our issue of Thursday last, it might seem that the writer intended to cast the blame on the students of Columbian College. Retracting his charge against the students of Georgetown College, he siys: ' The students referred to were not from that institution, but from a neighboring one "
> We learn, from undoubted authority, that the reference does not apply to the students of Columbian. They were spending their Christmas holidays at home, mostly out of Washington city. The ill-behaved were from institutions in the neighboring States.
